Carreau Design Combines Style and Tradition

Carreau Design, one of Meridian-Kessler's most noted home designers, has earned a reputation for creating custom kitchens, bathrooms and showers of distinction from imported ceramic, marble, and stone from around the globe. With over 20 years of experience, Carreau Design continues to show-case their artistic ability to combine Old World architecture with modern amenities to create one-of-a-kind designs that last a lifetime.

Carreau's newly renovated design studio is nestled in North Broad Ripple Village along the Monon Trail. It is here where you will find Leif Hinterberger, owner and project manager, hard at work with his team of designers crafting unique plans for Meridian Kessler homeowners.

Carreau's working studio boasts crosscut travertine stone floors with inlaid mosaic medallions, a hand-carved stone fireplace, granite kitchen counter tops, commercial appliances, a granite bathroom and shower enclosure with glass doors, imported lighting and fixtures, designer colors and moldings and an array of exotic stone samples that you can touch and feel.

"Our passion for excellence is reflected in every project we are involved with," says Hinterberger. "We work very hard to assist our customers in designing and building their ultimate living space. It is a true partnership from the very beginning."

This passion to create timeless design has blossomed into one of Indianapolis' most creative and artistic new construction projects to date.

The Waldorf, consisting of six luxury brownstone homes, is located downtown in the Chatham Arch Historic District near Massachusetts Avenue on the corners of Park and Walnut. The community is surrounded by some of the areas most notable landmarks, is close to theaters and restaurants, and promises world-class living and convenience.

Hinterberger, originally a New York native who spent his childhood summers in France, openly admits his designs are European urban influences. "We plan to show our future homeowners many one-of-a-kind designer options as we help them realize their vision for personal comfort and style. I think they will be astonished at the level of quality and craftsmanship."

Staying true to his heritage, Carreau will preserve the integrity and style of the historic downtown architecture while providing each homeowner with the opportunity to make a true personal statement by offering imported stone, slate and granite surfaces throughout their homes.

To support this concept, Carreau has carefully restored a spec house directly across the street from the Waldorf plat for potential homeowners to view and experience exactly what they are in for a true living experience.
